Goals of this Session

- Define leadership from the group perspective (5 sentences).
- Discuss contextual leadership “good” ones, “bad” ones, cultural specificity ? (dictators?)
- Choose animals – Leadership now
Leader you aspire to be
- Share with large group.

Ground Rules at Tables

- Facilitator

- Mentors (co-facilitators) –

- keeping to task

- Leaders

  - Recorder – write down key points of discussion

  - Reporter – be representatives from your table to the larger group

Question set #1

- Who are leaders that you know and admire?

- Why do you admire them?

- What are the characteristics of these leaders?

- How are these different from “bad” leaders? (dictators, tyrants)

We will be teaching a western model of leadership . . . .

- Are there specific leader behaviors that you feel might not 'fit' in your cultural setting ?
- Please capture these on paper – we want to know.

Personal Reflection to share

- What is the animal that most closely represents your leadership now?

Why and how?

- What is the animal that best represents the leader you ASPIRE to be?

Why and how?

Report to large group

- 1) Your table's consensus leadership definition
- 2) Cultural aspects of leadership you have identified at your table
- 3) Each person can report on their animals, or can say 'pass' . . . .
